If an elected committee member becomes unable to discharge the duties of that position, a successor shall be named by the Chairperson and approved by the Subcommittee at the next business meeting.  - 1) A training packet listing the “Do’s and Don’ts”, guidelines for letter writing and several example letters will be reviewed with each volunteer before they can write any letters.
 - 2) Any special rules of a facility will be reviewed with the volunteer before they are assigned anyone from that facility.
- C) A volunteer list will be kept containing the following information:
 - 1) Volunteers name and contact information; address, phone numbers email, more is better.
 - 2) Volunteers clean date. While there is only a three-month clean time requirement, it would be best if people with various clean time are assigned to a letter. Like all of us, a correspondent can benefit from a newcomer as well as someone with experience and care should be taken to balance the responses when assigning volunteers.
 - 3) Volunteer’s anonymity preference. Some volunteers prefer to remain anonymous. In such cases, they should make this known on the volunteer list and care will be taken when assigning letters to that volunteer. Signing their letters with initials can further protect ones anonymity.
 - 4) List of H&I facilities visited by the volunteer. Most correction’s institutions require that H&I volunteers have no other contact with inmates beyond the meetings. Volunteer will not be assigned letters from institutions they visit.
 - 5) Training received. Volunteers should not write letters until the subcommittee has trained them.
- D) When a letters is received from an individual, the coordinator will assign it to at least two volunteer correspondents within one week. The coordinator will take care to match the volunteer’s sex, anonymity needs and balancing the amount of clean time of respondents. There is no harm in assigning the letter to many volunteers. It is recommended each letter be assigned to at least two people.
- E) The volunteer will get a copy of the individual’s letter and a self addressed, stamped, return envelope from the coordinator.
- F) The response to the individual’s letter will be sent back to the coordinator so that it can be reviewed and logged.

- 1) A log will be kept of all letters received by individuals, the postdate, all volunteers assigned to answer that letter, all responses returned to the coordinator and the date the response letter is sent to the individual
- 2) It is important to track the return to ensure that each letter is answered within two weeks. The letter will be reassigned to a different volunteer if there is no response.
- 3) Correspondence between the coordinator and volunteers can also be accomplished via email or face-to-face, however the stamped envelope increases the chances of a rapid return.
